

PROJECT SHORELINE ENTRY SITE
(now The Computer History Museum)

OUR ROLE Development Manager

CLIENT Silicon Graphics, Inc.

ARCHITECT Studios Architecture

CONSULTANTS Structural - GFDS; Civil - Sandis; MEP - Mazzetti & Associates; Landscape - SWA Group

CONTRACTOR Devcon Construction

SIZE 112,000 square feet

TYPE Brownfield Development, Office, Sustainable, Tenant Improvements

BUDGET $20,000,000

ADDRESS 1200 Shoreline Boulevard, Mountain View, California

STATUS Complete 1995

DESCRIPTION The Shoreline Entry Site was the first Silicon Valley building developed by Silicon Graphics. Today, this bold architectural statement serves a new life as The Computer History Museum. As Development Manager, D. R. YOUNG ASSOCIATES oversaw all phases of the ambitious 112,000 square-foot project—built to reflect the vision and energy of the high tech industry.

